

1. Field of study	International Business Law and Arbitration
2. Faculty	Faculty of Law and Administration
3. Academic year of entry	2019/2020 (winter term), 2020/2021 (winter term), 2021/2022 (winter term), 2022/2023 (winter term), 2023/2024 (winter term), 2024/2025 (winter term)
4. Level of qualifications/degree	second-cycle studies
5. Degree profile	general academic
6. Mode of study	full-time

Module: International Property Law

Module code: IBLA-GC-INPL

1. Number of the ECTS credits: 4

2. Learning outcomes of the module
code	description	learning outcomes of the programme	level of competence (scale 1-5)
INPL_1	Possesses advanced knowledge about international and European standards in particular areas of law and understands (also in term of axiology) the relationships among those standards.	IBLA_W01	4
INPL_2	Knows advanced terminology from the field of social studies, in the area of legal studies, connected with international commercial relations (in particular - property law).	IBLA_W03	3
INPL_3	Knows key issues from the field of property in international law, with a particular emphasis placed on intellectual property, buying and selling property, enterprises, matrimonial property systems, in the context of conducting business activity.	IBLA_W11	4
INPL_4	Is capable of fluently using specialized English in the field of international commercial relations and International property law.	IBLA_U01	3
INPL_5	Is capable of identifying, interpreting and foreseeing social, political, economic and cultural phenomena (also atypical) in the context of their connection with law, particularly international, arbitration and business.	IBLA_U02	3
INPL_6	When formulating opinions, conclusions and suggestions in the framework of international property law is capable of using the dogmatic, historical as well as the comparative methods.	IBLA_U07 IBLA_U11	4 2
INPL_7	Is pable to carry out a critical analysis of events, phenomena and social situations. Can identify and assess the individual and collective interests of individual participants in social life (in particular referring to the property law in economic relations), social interest in a specific field and interactions among them.	IBLA_K02	3

3. Module description

Description	The purpose of the course is to present the notion of property in the context of basic human rights, specified, among others, in the ECHR, with particular attention given to concepts prevalent in civil law and common law. Accordingly, the course syllabus covers issues related to property and ownership, as well as possible measures and reasons for restricting property rights, the notion of expropriation and just compensation, the position of international tribunals regarding the protection of property and possibilities to restrict it due to considerations of public interest.
--------------------	--

Prerequisites	None

4. Assessment of the learning outcomes of the module

code	type	description	learning outcomes of the module
INPL_w_1	Oral presentations	Students present issues they have been asked to prepare for the class, on the basis of discussed topics.	INPL_1, INPL_2, INPL_4
INPL_w_2	Case solving - group work	Students work on resolving cases with the application of international law rules.	INPL_3, INPL_4, INPL_5, INPL_6
INPL_w_3	Discussion	Students discuss problematic solutions indicated by the lecturer and propose possible approaches to their regulation.	INPL_3, INPL_5, INPL_6, INPL_7
INPL_w_4	Exam	Students take an exam covering the notions and rules discussed in class.	INPL_1, INPL_2, INPL_3

5. Forms of teaching

code	form of teaching			required hours of student's own work		assessment of the learning outcomes of the module
	type	description (including teaching methods)	number of hours	description	number of hours
INPL_fs	lecture	The interactive lectures present key principles and institutions which form the basis for further activities, including active involvement of students. Some topics are prepared by students who present them in class on the basis of information already provided by the lecturer. Solutions adopted in the law are analyzed in discussions of problematic solutions. The ability to find relevant provisions, interpret them and apply them in practice is practiced in case solving (groupwork).	24	The student reads assigned material (publications, cases, normative acts, cases) in order to prepare for class and find solutions to problems indicated by the lecturer.	76	INPL_w_1, INPL_w_2, INPL_w_3, INPL_w_4